ABOUT ME

Despite completing several front-end practice projects, I have not yet had formal work experience as a frontend developer. My previous projects—such as a price-comparison bot (Torob), creative WordPress plugins, and a personal smart planning and management system—have helped me learn faster, think creatively, and develop more patience in debugging. I rely on English resources for learning about 90% of the time. I am fully committed to punctuality, organization, and responsibility.
